Rusk Lists Disagreements With Senator

Fulbright Foreign Policy Theories Are Opposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk has clashed with Sen. J. W. Fulbright's views on Cuba and has made it clear that the administration disagrees with many points the Arkansas senator raised in a tempest-stirring foreign policy speech.

But, Rusk told a news conference Friday, he goes along with the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on some of the issues brought up in his Senate speech Wednesday.

Rusk said Fulbright's speech was a "thoughtful and thought-provoking" one. He called it a contribution to discussion, adding "it is important that these matters be discussed."

On this last point the two were in solid agreement, for Fulbright has said his reason for making the speech was to "stimulate consideration of our present course by all thoughtful Americans."

As for specific disagreements expressed by Rusk, Fulbright told newsmen, "I do not want to get into an argument with the secretary."

Here's how the two differ on the Cuban situation:

CASTRO—Fulbright called the Communist regime of Fidel Castro a "distasteful nuisance but not an intolerable danger." Rusk said Castro is "more than a nuisance, he is a threat to the hemisphere."

BOYCOTT—Fulbright said U.S. efforts to persuade other non-Communist nations to go along with the economic boycott of Cuba have been a failure. He called for an end to the boycott policy. Rusk said the economic isolation of Cuba "has not been complete, but it has been very substantial" with a substantial amount of cooperation from allies. He said the boycott will continue unless Castro changes his ways.

His views on other points: POLICY—Fulbright said "old myths" which have guided foreign policy attitudes should give way to revised assessments "in the face of new realities." Rusk said the administration has been facing up to realities in its foreign policy.

Priest Is Killed In Religious Riot

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A Belgian priest was killed by a poison arrow as he attempted to protect Moslem villagers from marauding Christian tribesmen in eastern India, an informed source said today.

The Rev. Herman Rasschert, a Jesuit, was the first reported foreign casualty in the wave of religious rioting that has plagued India for 13 days. The source said Father Rasschert was struck when he tried to halt Adivasi tribesmen from looting and burning Giria Village in southern Bihar State.

The Indian army clashed four times with the tribesmen, and some deaths were reported. The tribesmen have been enraged by anti-Christian activities in Moslem East Pakistan.

Christians Around World Prepare for Easter Sunday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Christians around the world prepared today for Easter Sunday, the most triumphant Holy Day of the year.

The penitential mourning of Good Friday, commemorating the crucifixion of Christ, will give way to the joyous refrain of "Alleluia, the Lord is Risen." Across the United States, churches planned sunrise services to celebrate the Resurrection.

The traditional service will be held aboard the USS Constitution, "Old Ironsides," in Boston Harbor and in Red Rocks Park near Denver, where work crews had to shovel nine inches of snow from the seats.

In Alabama, worshippers will make a predawn trek to Mount State Monument for the pageant "The Road to Calvary." It will be staged on three of the largest mounds, which were built by Indians centuries ago as places of worship.

There will be sunrise services at Oklahoma's Wichita Mountain Wildlife Reservation, at Radio City Music Hall in New York City, at a placid pine-rimmed reservoir in Irvington, just north of New York, and at Alto Pass, Ill., where a 111-foot cross will be dedicated.

Construction of the cross began five years ago. It's the work of the Rev. Wayman Presely, a retired Methodist clergyman. There also will be the traditional Easter egg hunts in many communities and the Easter parades of new, spring clothes. The forecast for New York's Fifth Avenue parade was for fair weather with temperatures in the 40s and 50s.

As Christians prepared to usher in the dawn of Easter, hailing the risen Christ, Israel's two million Jews celebrated the second day of Passover.

By a quirk of the calendar, Passover coincides this year with the Easter season. The ancient Jewish festival commemo-

Waynesville Farmer Gives Testimony

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Eugene Tufts, charged with animal neglect, testified Friday night that he purchased feed eight times in December and watered and fed his animals all during the month.

Tufts was arrested after authorities said they found 43 dead animals and several others in poor condition on his farm near Waynesville last Dec. 22-23.

Defense attorney Paul Westfield produced feed bills from the Farmer's Exchange in Miamisburg, which showed that Tufts, of West Carrollton, had purchased feed eight times in December.

Other defense witnesses included Tufts' stepson, Terry Schear, who testified he went to the farm every day in December with Tufts to feed and water the animals.

A veterinarian, Dr. O. W. Falling of Dayton, testified that autopsies he ordered on two pigs showed they died of pneumonia, not starvation.

The trial, second for Tufts, began Thursday night in Judge John Zopf's County Court.

The prosecution ended its case with testimony of Mrs. Elsie Bradbury, who lives near the farm. Mrs. Bradbury said the animals were unattended and she had asked the Warren County sheriff's office to make the investigation.

A mistrial was declared in Tufts' first trial. The second trial resumes Monday evening.

Prosecutor Is Suspended

CLEVELAND (AP)—Richard F. Matia has been suspended, a chief police prosecutor in the wake of disclosure that he failed to file income tax returns for 1959 through 1962.

Mayor Ralph S. Locher ordered the suspension Friday pending an investigation. The mayor, who kept in touch with the case from Washington, asked Daniel J. O'Laughlin, chief counsel in the city's law department, to give him a full report he returns to Cleveland Monday.

Meanwhile an Internal Revenue Service official said Matia filed the missing returns Thursday, within two hours after Plain Dealer reporters interviewed him.

Billy Graham Planning Rally in Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham arrives today to plan his Easter Sunday rally. Police took extra precautions for an estimated 50,000 expected to be in the integrated audience.

City, county and state law enforcement agencies are pooling their resources to prepare for a crowd which Police Chief Jamie Moore said "may be the biggest we have ever seen."

rates the flight of Moses and his people from bondage in Egypt. Like their brethren around the world, Israeli Jews observed Passover with the traditional seder, a family gathering at which the head of the household retells the story of the exodus from Egypt.

In many Jewish homes, a cup of wine was left untouched in memory of those who perished at the hands of the Nazis and a place at the table was left empty as a reminder that the Jews in the Soviet Union are discouraged from religious observances.

At the Basilica of the Dormition on Mount Zion in the Israeli seitor of Jerusalem, Roman Catholics will celebrate a solemn high pontifical Easter vigil tonight. The service was reintroduced by Pope Pius XII.

The basilica's prior, the Rev. Benedict Stolz, said: "We are celebrating Easter in the Holy Land this year with a feeling of renewed hope and optimism."

His comment reflected the goodwill stirred by the historic pilgrimage of Pope Paul VI to the Holy Land in January.

In old Jerusalem, thousands of Christian pilgrims from around the world followed Christ's path to Calvary in solemn Good Friday pageantry. Many walked along the narrow, winding cobbled streets bearing crosses.

The Rev. Terrence Kuehn, superior of the Holy Land Monastery in Washington, D.C., led the American and English-speaking pilgrims.

The Good Friday ceremonies closed after sunset with a burial service at the marble sepulcher where tradition says Jesus was entombed.

Pope Paul VI carried an eight-foot wooden cross in a penitential Good Friday procession.

Ohio Aviatrix Resumes Trip

SANTA MARIA, Azores (AP)—Mrs. Jerrie Mock of Columbus, Ohio, left today for Casablanca, 892 miles across the Atlantic and the next stop on her projected solo flight around the world.

The weather was reported sunny as Mrs. Mock climbed into the single-engine plane. She wore a neat skirt and jacket that prompted one onlooker to remark: "She doesn't look at all like an aviator flying around the world."

Mrs. Joan Merriam of Long Beach, Calif., also trying to fly solo around the world, planned to take off today from Paramaribo, Surinam (Dutch Guiana), for Natal, Brazil. She has been grounded in Paramaribo for several days while mechanics repaired leaky gas tanks on her twin-engine plane.

Warning Issued On Easter Toy

DETROIT (AP)—Federal and Michigan state health officials have warned against an imported toy duckling appearing in the Easter trade.

The federal Food and Drug Administration and the city Health Department ordered the item removed from store shelves.

The city health commissioner, Dr. George P. Anderson said the toys, imported from Japan, are from actual ducklings killed when they were about two weeks old, then skinned and stuffed with cotton waste treated with a chemical used as a soil fungicide.

Anderson said the chemical, if ingested, causes vomiting and acts on the nervous system, causing difficulty in breathing and possible convulsions.

HAPPY REWARD — A broad smile crosses the face of little Stephanie Shaw, 4, as she happily latches onto one of the many Easter eggs hidden this morning at Ted Lewis Park. The cute lass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw, 119 Parkview, was one of a throng of children that flocked into the park to participate in the annual Kiwanis Club Easter Egg Hunt. More than 1,400 eggs, real and candy, were there for the finding.

News Briefs

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The Barnesville weekly Enterprise summed up the Belmont County community's recent water troubles in a large banner headline saying: "Don't Blink at Your Drink at the Kitchen Sink; It May Stink, but Not as Bad as You Think!"

Recently authorities reported that drinking water "has had a cloudy appearance and somewhat offensive taste," but due, partially, to heavy rainfall and noting the water was still safe for consumption.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police said Nicholas Swigart shot and critically wounded a man at the home of his estranged wife, Lucille, Friday night.

Swigart's 4-year-old daughter, Nicki, was hit accidentally in the left arm by one bullet, police reported.

Clayton Plumber, 42, of Brunswick was wounded in the abdomen during the wild shooting that climaxed a quarrel, detectives said.

After the shooting, Swigart, 34, grabbed his wounded daughter and rushed her to Grace Hospital. He left the girl there and fled, but later returned to the hospital, where he surrendered, police said.

JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—An Air Force B47 bomber crashed in a cascade of flame shortly after takeoff Friday, killing four crewmen and two children.

The boys were playing when the huge plane slammed into the ground less than 50 yards from the home of one of the victims, Richard Butler, 9. The second child, Gary Davenport, 10, died this morning.

The Buter boy was apparently killed by fire which spurted from the plane, and the Davenport boy was critically burned.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—James Craig, 52-year-old actor, turned up unexpectedly in Los Angeles Superior Court, where his wife, Jane, 29, had gone to pick up a divorce decree.

After hearing her testify that when intoxicated he broke doors, struck her and threatened her, he said:

"I think this young lady should be granted her divorce, but I think one of the cruellest things anyone can say is that a man beats his wife and drinks to excess. But if you want to accept this, OK."

The judge granted Mrs. Craig the divorce.

Quake Tolls Are Recalled

The last major earthquake before Alaska's was one that took about 80 lives in the Kashmir Valley, near Sriniger, Kashmir, last Sept. 2.

Six weeks previously, the earthquake at Skopje, Yugoslavia, killed more than 2,000 persons and injured 2,000.

The San Francisco earthquake of 1906, the only other major one in the United States, took 432 lives.

The worst recorded earthquake was in China in 1556. It killed 830,000 persons.

Once Around Roundtown

CIRCLEVILLE received a prominent spot in the March issue of The General Electric News, a publication compiled by the firm's Lamp Division.

The double spread feature, complete with pictures of several local GE employees, reflects the growth of both the city and the plant.

"As Fluorescent Lamp Markets Grow, So Grows Circleville" is the story's theme. The article describes the hand-in-hand growth pattern since the Circleville plant was established in 1948.

The city's population was about 8,000 in 1948. The number stands in the neighborhood of 12,000 now.

Included in the narrative is a brief history of the city and some interesting comments on Circleville's own Ted Lewis.

EASTER Parade participants had better take along an umbrella tomorrow. The weatherman repeated his forecast again today for possible light rain or snow flurries on Easter Sunday.

Anchorage Hit Hardest Blow

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The heart of this metropolitan city was virtually destroyed by an earthquake that rocked Alaska Friday night, leaving a death toll that may reach several hundred.

The quake struck here at 5:36 p.m.—10:36 p.m. EST—at the height of the rush hour. Hundreds of people were caught on the streets or en route home in cars.

Huge cracks opened in the ground. Two in the downtown area were from 6 to 12 feet deep and ranged from 6 to 50 feet wide.

In the center of the city, three-story concrete buildings—many of them quite new—tumbled or caved in upon themselves. Some were reported a total loss.

Gov. William A. Egan asked President Johnson to declare portions of Alaska a disaster area.

"Urgently request designation major disaster area," Egan wired the President.

"Complete evaluation of damage and loss of life not yet available, but information presently at hand confirms likelihood of damage which could easily reach minimum of quarter billion dollars through widespread area."

Anchorage stands at the head of Cook Inlet and as the shock and tidal waves rolled down the sound, they brought death and destruction to coastal cities.

Three persons were reported dead and 26 missing at Valdez. Three deaths were confirmed at Seward, where 20 persons were reported missing.

Anchorage was plunged into darkness when electric power went off, and rescuers struggled in the ruins with only emergency lights to guide them. A fire broke out but was extinguished.

Regular communications with other cities were not established until more than 8½ hours after the earthquake hit. Damage was reported extensive in other cities. Oil tanks erupted. Fires broke out and firefighters were hampered by the lack of water.

Kodiak was swamped by a 17-foot tidal wave and the mayor sent out a call for help. The Navy had evacuated its station before the wave struck, and most of the residents also had moved to higher ground.

A section of Turnagain Bluff, where many of Anchorage's finest homes are located high above Cook Inlet, reportedly crumbled and many homes tumbled down the cliff.

President Johnson was alert

ed to the disaster at his Johnson City, Tex., home, where he is spending the Easter vacation. Reports were given him periodically throughout the night.

Disaster agencies around the country were informed and the Red Cross designated Seattle as its marshalling point. Navy and Army planes in the Seattle area were on the alert, ready to carry life-giving supplies to the stricken area.

The earthquake was recorded on the University of Washington seismograph for two hours. Its intensity was measured at 8.3 on the Richter Scale. The San Francisco Earthquake of 1906, which claimed 452 lives, registered 8.25 on the same scale.

The university's seismologist said the earthquake apparently centered in the bay south of Seward, 1,500 miles northwest of Seattle.

Shock waves were felt around the world. The recording needle was shaken out of the seismograph at an observatory in Paris.

Damage and disaster spread southward. One child drowned and three others were reported missing when waves swept over a Depoe Bay, Ore., beach.

Tidal waves crashed over the Washington coast, knocking out bridges and prompting the evacuation of several areas.

Some Oregon communities also were evacuated.

A series of tidal waves hit the Hawaiian islands and boats were tossed violently by freakish tides at Houston, Tex. Water surged up the Vancouver Inlet to flood the downtown section of Port Alberni, B.C., to a depth of five feet.

The first contact with the outside world was made from this earthquake-stricken city more than 8½ hours after the initial shock wave.

Radio station KENI reached the Seattle office of the Associated Press at 7 a.m. EST to report that the death toll has not been ascertained, but damage is extensive. The report said several houses and buildings fell into fissures and one downtown building caved inward.

The city was, at that time, still in darkness with only a few emergency lights burning.

The Coast Guard at Juneau reported the tidal wave traveled 100 miles in 25 minutes.

Waves 10 to 15 feet high washed into Seward where flooding appeared to have caused most of the damage.

An unidentified fishing vessel radioed that the village of Turnagain was hit.

Fifth of All Alaskans Resides in Anchorage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Anchorage, Alaska, the largest city in the largest state in the Union, is located at the head of Cook's Inlet, a long bay on the south shore of the state.

The city has a population of 48,000, about one-fifth of the state's total.

More than 500 air miles to the southeast is the capital, Juneau. About 250 miles to the north is Fairbanks, which has the northernmost airport on the continent.

Elmendorf Air Force Base is located at Anchorage.

Alaska's principal income is from fisheries, minerals, timber and furs. It is a state of mountain ranges and frozen tundra. The tallest peak in North America is in Alaska—Mt. McKinley, 20,320 feet high.

About one quarter of the state is within the Arctic Circle.

An organized territory since 1912, Alaska was voted into the Union on June 30, 1958. The United States bought the land from Russia in 1867 for $7,200,000.

The main streets, Fourth and Fifth Avenues, run east and west. To the East are Elmendorf Air Force Base and Ft. Richardson, the Army base, which is about 10 miles away.

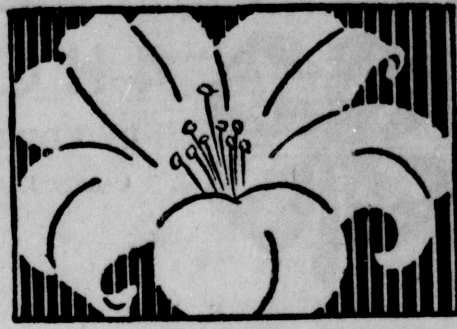

Buildings along the main business district are predominantly one and two-story structures, with a few exceptions. One of the city's tallest buildings, the Mt. McKinley Building, is on Fourth Ave. where severe damage was reported. It's a 14-story steel and concrete apartment building and also houses one of Anchorage's two television stations, KTVA.

In the center of town is the city hall and the federal building. Along normally bustling Fourth Ave. are banks, dress shops, hotels, restaurants, liquor stores, bars and other establishments.

CIRCLEVILLE received a prominent spot in the March issue of The General Electric News, a publication compiled by the firm's Lamp Division.

The double spread feature, complete with pictures of several local GE employees, reflects the growth of both the city and the plant.

"As Fluorescent Lamp Markets Grow, So Grows Circleville" is the story's theme. The article describes the hand-in-hand growth pattern since the Circleville plant was established in 1948.

The city's population was about 8,000 in 1948. The number stands in the neighborhood of 12,000 now.

Included in the narrative is a brief history of the city and some interesting comments on Circleville's own Ted Lewis.

Anchorage Hit Hardest Blow

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The heart of this metropolitan city was virtually destroyed by an earthquake that rocked Alaska Friday night, leaving a death toll that may reach several hundred.

The quake struck here at 5:36 p.m.—10:36 p.m. EST—at the height of the rush hour. Hundreds of people were caught on the streets or en route home in cars.

Huge cracks opened in the ground. Two in the downtown area were from 6 to 12 feet deep and ranged from 6 to 50 feet wide.

In the center of the city, three-story concrete buildings—many of them quite new—tumbled or caved in upon themselves. Some were reported a total loss.

Gov. William A. Egan asked President Johnson to declare portions of Alaska a disaster area.

"Urgently request designation major disaster area," Egan wired the President. "Complete evaluation of damage and loss of life not yet available, but information presently at hand confirms likelihood of damage which could easily reach minimum of quarter billion dollars through widespread area."

Anchorage stands at the head of Cook Inlet and as the shock and tidal waves rolled down the sound, they brought death and destruction to coastal cities.

Three persons were reported dead and 26 missing at Valdez. Three deaths were confirmed at Seward, where 20 persons were reported missing.

Anchorage was plunged into darkness when electric power went off, and rescuers struggled in the ruins with only emergency lights to guide them. A fire broke out but was extinguished.

Regular communications with other cities were not established until more than 8½ hours after the earthquake hit. Damage was reported extensive in other cities. Oil tanks erupted. Fires broke out and firefighters were hampered by the lack of water.

Kodiak was swamped by a 17-foot tidal wave and the mayor sent out a call for help. The Navy had evacuated its station before the wave struck, and most of the residents also had moved to higher ground.

A section of Turnagain Bluff, where many of Anchorage's finest homes are located high above Cook Inlet, reportedly crumbled and many homes tumbled down the cliff.

President Johnson was alerted

ed to the disaster at his Johnson City, Tex., home, where he is spending the Easter vacation. Reports were given him periodically throughout the night.

Disaster agencies around the country were informed and the Red Cross designated Seattle as its marshalling point. Navy and Army planes in the Seattle area were on the alert, ready to carry life-giving supplies to the stricken area.

The earthquake was recorded on the University of Washington seismograph for two hours. Its intensity was measured at 8.3 on the Richter Scale. The San Francisco Earthquake of 1906, which claimed 452 lives, registered 8.25 on the same scale.

The university's seismologist said the earthquake apparently centered in the bay south of Seward, 1,500 miles northwest of Seattle.

Shock waves were felt around the world. The recording needle was shaken out of the seismograph at an observatory in Paris.

Damage and disaster spread southward. One child drowned and three others were reported missing when waves swept over a Depoe Bay, Ore., beach.

Tidal waves crashed over the Washington coast, knocking over bridges and prompting the evacuation of several areas.

Some Oregon communities also were evacuated.

A series of tidal waves hit the Hawaiian islands and boats were tossed violently by freakish tides at Houston, Tex. Water surged up the Vancouver Inlet to flood the downtown section of Port Alberni, B.C., to a depth of five feet.

The first contact with the outside world was made from this earthquake-stricken city more than 8½ hours after the initial shock wave.

Radio station KENI reached the Seattle office of the Associated Press at 7 a.m. EST to report that the death toll has not been ascertained, but damage is extensive. The report said several houses and buildings fell into fissures and one downtown building caved inward.

The city was, at that time, still in darkness with only a few emergency lights burning.

The Coast Guard at Juneau reported the tidal wave traveled 100 miles in 25 minutes. Waves 10 to 15 feet high washed into Seward where flooding appeared to have caused most of the damage.

Fifth of All Alaskans Resides in Anchorage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Anchorage, Alaska, the largest city in the largest state in the Union, is located at the head of Cook's Inlet, a long bay on the south shore of the state.

The city has a population of 48,000, about one-fifth of the state's total.

More than 500 air miles to the southeast is the capital, Juneau. About 250 miles to the north is Fairbanks, which has the northernmost airport on the continent.

Elmendorf Air Force Base is located at Anchorage.

Alaska's principal income is from fisheries, minerals, timber and furs. It is a state of mountain ranges and frozen tundra.

The tallest peak in North America is in Alaska—Mt. McKinley, 20,300 feet high.

About one quarter of the state is within the Arctic Circle.

An organized territory since 1912, Alaska was voted into the Union on June 30, 1958. The United States bought the land from Russia in 1867 for $7,200,000.

The main streets, Fourth and Fifth Avenues, run east and west. To the East are Elmendorf Air Force Base and Ft. Richardson, the Army base, which is about 10 miles away.

Buildings along the main business district are predominantly one and two-story structures, with a few exceptions. One of the city's tallest buildings, the Mt. McKinley Building, is on Fourth Ave. where severe damage was reported. It's a 14-story steel and concrete apartment building and also houses one of Anchorage's two television stations, KTVA.

In the center of town is the city hall and the federal building. Along normally bustling Fourth Ave. are banks, dress shops, hotels, restaurants, liquor stores, bars and other establishments.

4-H Club News

By EDWIN D. TAYLOR
County Extension Agent, 4-H

President Lyndon B. Johnson has accepted honorary chairmanship of the National 4-H Service Committee, and has consented to the presentation of silver trays in his name to six top ranking 4-H club members next December at the 43rd National 5-H Club Congress.

The announcement comes from Norman C. Mindrum, director of the committee. He explains that since 1924, the President of the United States has served as honorary chairman. The late John F. Kennedy had been chairman.

In accepting the post, President Johnson said: "I deem it a pleasure to accept your kind invitation... (and) will also be happy to permit the traditional awards to be presented in my name to those 4-H club members holding superior records in citizenship, leadership and achievement. My cordial good wishes for the continued success of this youth program."

The National 4-H Service Committee this year is celebrating its 40th anniversary as a non-profit educational corporation, stated Mindrum, although it began to function in 1921. Its stated purpose is to support and promote 4-H club work conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service.

"From a humble beginning and donations of a few thousand dollars used to bring 4-H members to the International Livestock Show, the Committee has increased its support to one-and-a-quarter million dollars annually," Mindrum said.

The pledges were led by Connie Collins. Roll call followed by answering by naming favorite Irish jokes.

The club voted to donate $5 to the Red Cross as a community project. The second project is the clothing drive for needy children. The clothes are to be brought to the next meeting.

Demonstrations were given by: Lois Dill on the proper way to set a table for company entertaining; Sandra Sanderson on the way to broil a peach dessert; Diane Cook on the correct way to make sandwiches and also ways to cut them for attractive serving.

Debbie Archer gave a health talk on food and nutrition. Mrs. Sanderson passed out safety literature and a test was given on various safety factors.

Snacking and Packing girls are to bring biscuits for judging. Fun With Food girls are to bring cherry cobbler and Yeast Bread and Rolls girls are to bring cinnamon rolls.

Closing prayer was led by Sheryl Hines. Refreshments were served by Sheila Clay, Sandy Seothorn and Edna Holland.

Nancy Collins, Nancy Hines, Sandra Sanderson (Junior leaders) helped Mrs. Sanderson judge products brought to the meeting. Recreation followed. The next meeting will be held

The third meeting was held at the South Bloomfield Municipal Building on Mar. 23.

President Terry Reed opened the meeting, with 21 members present. Pat Foreman led the Pledge to the Flag and Sarah Cromley led the 4-H Pledge. In answering the roll call each member named a grain for feeding.

Registration slips were turned in by the members. Schedules of the tours and meetings were distributed by president Reed.

The club will conduct a community project and will contribute $10 for the use of the South Bloomfield Municipal Building.

The club elected Sally Smith and Mike Smith as health leaders. They will present demonstrations at the next meeting, which is the health session.

Demonstration leader Marty Young announced she will contact members when they are to give their demonstration.

The next meeting will be April 14. Mike Schiff will serve refreshments.

Use Controls Now Against Crabgrass

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

If crabgrass infested your lawn last summer, the seeds are probably still in the sod ready to ruin the appearance of the yard again.

To rid your lawn of this troublesome grass apply some type of control material in late March or early April, says Robert Miller, assistant professor of agronomy at The Ohio State University.

Pre-emergence control — that which stops the seeds from germinating — is preferred over post-emergence control — that which kills the seedlings. The latter method takes precise timing which may be difficult for the average gardener. Also post-emergence control requires two or three applications while pre-emergence needs only one.

In tests at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station during a period of several years, Dacthal and Zyturon have given consistent control of crabgrass. Dacthal should be applied at the rate of 10 pounds of active material per acre. April Zyturon at 15 pounds per acre.

OTHER materials which have proved successful in controlling crabgrass are Bandane (35 pounds of active material per acre), Dipan and Treflan (20 and 5 pounds per acre), Betasan (15 pounds per acre) and Calcium Arsenate (18 pounds per 1,000 sq. ft.).

A new material, Azar has been in test for one year and shows promise of giving good control.

Not all coarse blades of grass are crabgrass, says Miller. Don't expect clumps of tall fescue, orchard grass, timothy, smooth brome grass or other perennial grasses to be killed by the pre-emergence controls listed above.

Crabgrass is lighter in color than lawn grass. During hot weather it grows well and will spread through the lawn. It turns brown and dies after the first frost, leaving the lawn unsightly.

The use of chemicals to control crabgrass should always be accompanied by good cultural practices, Miller says. The lawn should be fertilized with a complete fertilizer in the fall and with nitrogen in the spring.

A mowing height of 2 to 2½ inches is recommended. This will assure strong enough grass to help discourage the growth of crabgrass.

dent. Roll call was answered by naming favorite flowers.

Two new members joined the club. They are Kim Graham and Brenda Turner. At the next meeting members will discuss the community project for the coming year.

The next session will be 7:03 p. m. April 13 at the 4-H and Grange Building.

Attic Flies, Boxelder Bugs Cause for Wide Concern

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

Cluster flies or attic flies, as they are sometimes called, and boxelder bugs have been causing an unusually great amount of concern to homeowners.

This concern may be partially due to the past dry summers. Since these insects spend a portion of their life cycle in the soil, normal rainfall will destroy great numbers of them.

During cool weather in the fall, cluster flies cause concern by entering houses in large numbers. They usually congregate in the attic or an upstairs room where their noise and numbers create a nuisance.

The cluster fly is slightly larger than the house fly. It has non-metallic, dark gray spots. They do no damage to the home or to contents, but are searching for a place where they can live over winter.

DURING bright sunny days or warm days in the spring of the year the flies are driven from their point of hibernation. Some of them appear in rooms of the home in an effort to reach the outside.

Those that do reach the outdoors deposit their eggs in cracks in the soil. The eggs then hatch and the very active young maggots penetrate the body of earthworms, where they are parasitic. After spending 25 to 35 days underground, the flies emerge again. There are usually four generations per year.

There is no single control measure that is completely effective. Reducing the number of earthworms will reduce cluster flies. Earthworms are reduced but not eliminated by applying Chlordane, Aldrin, Dieldrin or Heptachlor according to the manufacturer's direction for Jap beetle and June beetle grub control.

It is possible to reduce fly number entrance to the home by caulking around windows and joints where they might enter. Window sash cords, sashes, and cases can be painted with 10 per cent DDT or two per cent Chlordane.

Boxelder bugs follow about the same pattern of concern to the home owner. This bug is a rather narrow, ½ inch long, brown - black, with three red stripes on the thorax.

During the summer boxelder bugs feed on foliage of boxelder and ash trees, but in the fall they leave the trees and head for shelter in the walls of home and buildings.

WHEN spring comes they again head for the outdoors and they also sometimes appear inside the home. They are not capable of biting or harming foods, clothing, or other household items.

Boxelder bugs can be controlled by removing seed-bearing boxelder trees. They breed on the seed-bearing trees. Even though they may be found on other trees, the nourishment taken from boxelder seeds is necessary for their maturity.

While boxelder bugs are congregated on tree trunks or the outside of a house they may be destroyed by a drenching spray of Dieldrin, Sevin or Aldrin. Do not use these inside the house.

These bugs are difficult to control with regular household insecticides. It is simpler to pick them up with the vacuum cleaner.

Study Shows Feeder Pig Costs Vary

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

Feeder pig production costs varied widely in a study of four Ohio counties conducted by agricultural economists at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

The average cost of producing a 38-pound pig on 67 farms in Madison, Clinton, Fayette and Greene Counties was $9.70 during 1962. But a third of the growers were turning out pigs at an average cost of $7.40 apiece. This was nearly $4 per head cheaper than the $12.30 average per pig for the third with highest costs.

The big differences were in feed and labor. These accounted for about two-thirds of the total cost.

Low cost farmers used 25 per cent less feed, a third less labor, and saved 2.2 more pigs per sow than did the high cost group. This gave a savings of $2.40 in feed costs per pig and $1.50 in labor.

WHEN R. H. Blosser, D. H. Doster and W. D. Hunnicutt analyzed their data they found that the sows kept in the herd for 12 months had gained an average of 115 pounds. This gain came largely as a result of replacing 55 per cent of the breeding herd each year with gilts. The value of this pork was credited to the farm before costs were figured.

Unit prices of $1.50 per hour for labor, $1.25 per hour for tractor power and per bushel costs of $1.10 for corn and 65 cents for oats were used in figuring costs.

The average sow in the study produced only 1.7 litters per year. Some did not conceive the first time and others were removed from the herd for various reasons.

SAVE TIME— You reduce planter stopping time. You plant more acres per day. You apply fertilizer when you have more time.

SAVE LABOR— You move fertilizer too by machine power and not by your valuable physical power.

AGRONOMICALLY GOOD— 1. The bulk of your fertilizer application can be plowed under giving fertility elements earlier contact with soil organic residues resulting in speedier increase of soil micro-population.

2. Plowing down fertilizer permits broader and deeper plant growth resulting in more efficient use of soil nutrients and soil water.

3. You may plow down any extra elements needed to bring your soil fertility into proper balance for highest yields.

CHOOSE— Flo-lizer's You may choose to apply with your tractor and one of four ton spreaders or you may choose to have your fertilizer truck spread.

As you fertilize the FLO-LIZER bulk spreader way, you think of time saved during the oncoming busy planting days and of the additional acres planted per day. You feel more relaxed and less tired as you see machines moving fertilizer tons which you otherwise would handle by your physical strength. You see a more efficient farm operation and think of more net dollars per acre.

The big differences were in feed and labor. These accounted for about two-thirds of the total cost.

Low cost farmers used 25 per cent less feed, a third less labor, and saved 2.2 more pigs per sow than did the high cost group. This gave a savings of $2.40 in feed costs per pig and $1.50 in labor.

WHEN R. H. Blosser, D. H. Doster and W. D. Hunnicutt analyzed their data they found that the sows kept in the herd for 12 months had gained an average of 115 pounds. This gain came largely as a result of replacing 55 per cent of the breeding herd each year with gilts. The value of this pork was credited to the farm before costs were figured.

Unit prices of $1.50 per hour for labor, $1.25 per hour for tractor power and per bushel costs of $1.10 for corn and 65 cents for oats were used in figuring costs.

The average sow in the study produced only 1.7 litters per year. Some did not conceive the first time and others were removed from the herd for various reasons.

BULK SPREADER WAY

SAVE TIME— You reduce planter stopping time. You plant more acres per day. You apply fertilizer when you have more time.

SAVE LABOR— You move fertilizer too by machine power and not by your valuable physical power.

AGRONOMICALLY GOOD— 1. The bulk of your fertilizer application can be plowed under giving fertility elements earlier contact with soil organic residues resulting in speedier increase of soil micro-population.

2. Plowing down fertilizer permits broader and deeper plant growth resulting in more efficient use of soil nutrients and soil water.

3. You may plow down any extra elements needed to bring your soil fertility into proper balance for highest yields.

CHOOSE—Flo-lizer's

You may choose to apply with your tractor and one of four ton spreaders or you may choose to have your fertilizer truck spread.

As you fertilize the FLO-LIZER bulk spreader way, you think of time saved during the oncoming busy planting days and of the additional acres planted per day. You feel more relaxed and less tired as you see machines moving fertilizer tons which you otherwise would handle by your physical strength. You see a more efficient farm operation and think of more net dollars per acre.

Low Cost Lined Mole Drain Developed by Researchers

Recent research developments may make low-cost subsurface drainage systems usable in agriculture and in the construction industry, report J. L. Fouss and Dr. G. O. Schwab of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

These developments include a new type of plastic liner for stabilizing mole drain channels and improved equipment for installing the plastic drain. The research was conducted cooperatively by the Agricultural Research Service, USDA and the Ohio Station.

Researchers have been experimenting for several years with plastic liners formed inside of mole drains. The new liner is fastened in a tubular shape by "zippering" together interlocking tabs pre-stamped along both sides of a perforated plastic sheet. A 10-inch wide, semi-rigid sheet of polyvinyl chloride (PVC) plastic, 15 mils thick, is used to make the 3-inch diameter drain tube.

The liner is installed with a special tool fastened behind a mole plow. The drainage machine is pulled by a large crawler tractor at a speed of about 125 feet per minute at a depth of 24 to 30 inches. Since the drain is installed without digging a trench, a minimum of soil and crop disturbance results.

FOUSS designed and is developing an automatic grading system for the experimental machine that maintains the fall of the drain as it is installed. Estimates of the cost for such a drainage system run from 10 to 12 cents per linear foot, completely installed, compared to 16 to 18 cents for clay tile.

Field installations of these plastic drains have been made at the North Central Substation near Vickery. About 11,000 feet of plastic drains were installed in three experiments.

These trials, which are in slowly permeable, silty clay soil, have shown that the "zippering" mole liner holds its circular shape and size better than previous methods of forming the tubes.

Outflow from the plastic drains is essentially the same as for conventional tile. The researchers say several more years of research are needed before plastic liners can be completely evaluated. This research is still in the experimental stage and is not yet recommended.

If this method of subsurface drainage proves successful, its most important application will be in fine textured soils in humid areas. The lower cost will permit drains to be spaced closer together, thus providing better drainage of heavy soils than would be possible with drains farther apart.

USUALLY you needn't worry about pruning roses to check growth, since Ohio winters kill roses down to the ground. But if your roses have not been killed down, cut them back to about 18 inches, say Ohio State University Extension specialists.

GARDEN vegetables may be grouped into two general classes — the cool-season crops, which are most successful when planted in early spring, and the warm-season vegetables, which produce best when grown during mid-summer.

RED FLAGS by day and approved red flashing lights by night call the attention of motorists to the dangers of slow-moving farm machinery.

Have you ever worn a garment for the first time and spilled coffee or cocoa on it and could not remove the stain? Or have your children ruined clothes with grass stains? Then you need help in home methods for removing stains.

Learn the simple methods of removing stains at home. Then act promptly.

Many stains that can be removed easily when they are fresh are difficult or impossible to remove later, particularly after they are set by heat.

Identify the stain, if possible. The treatment for one kind may set another. Before using any remover be sure it will not harm the fabric.

Here are a few common stains and methods for their removal. One precaution to take is to work out of doors or in a well-ventilated room when using any solvent except water. Do not breathe solvent vapors and use only a small quantity of solvent at a time.

Blood — for washable articles, sponge stain with cool water. Or soak stain in cool water for 30 minutes or longer; some stains require an overnight soak. If stain remains, work a detergent into it and then rinse. If stain still remains, put a few drops of ammonia on the stain and repeat treatment with detergent. Rinse. Stains set by heat will be difficult to remove.

Coffee and chocolate — For chocolate, coffee and combination stains sponge with cool water or soak in cool water for 30 minutes or longer. If stain remains, work detergent into stain, rinse thoroughly and allow article to dry. If a greasy spot remains, sponge with grease solvent. Allow to dry. Repeat if necessary. If colored stain remains after fabric dries, use a chlorine or sodium perborate bleach or hydrogen peroxide.

Cocoa — sponge with cool water or soak in cool water for 30 minutes or longer. If stain remains work a detergent into it, then rinse. If it still remains use a chlorine or sodium perborate bleach or hydrogen peroxide.

Grass, flower, foliage — for washable articles work detergent into stain, then rinse. Or, if safe for dye, sponge with alcohol. Dilute alcohol with two parts of water for use on acetate. If stain remains use a chlorine or sodium perborate bleach or hydrogen peroxide.

Mercurochrome, merthiolate — for washable articles soak overnight in a warm detergent solution that contains four tablespoons of ammonia to each quart of water.

Rust — moisten stain with oxalic acid solution (one tablespoon oxalic acid crystals in one cup warm water). If it is not removed, heat the solution and repeat. If stain is stubborn

Many Pickaway Countians have had a difficult time setting their schedules back to normal.

It was last Saturday that the "High Fever Follies" took its final bow after weeks of preparation. Many associated with the show have voiced their discontent with complacency.

Insecticide Study

For years Americans have been producing chemicals of constantly increasing toxicity and applying them to kill insects in greater and greater amounts, until Rachel Carson came along and wrote a book, "Silent Spring." The work so shocked the U.S. by its charges that such chemicals are poisoning the soil that several efforts have been started to find out in detail just what is happening.

Now the U. S. Public Health Service has announced a five-year research study by scientists at Rutgers University, at a cost of $200,000 for the first year, to find out whether a pesticide, such as DDT, is decomposed in the soil, whether it is washed out of the soil into streams or whether it is taken up by plants.

Miss Carson, who is also a biologist, presented circumstantial evidence that the many chemicals used on gardens and lawns and that farmers use on the fields and trees are reducing the reproductive rates of game birds, of fish, of animals — and even endangering the health of humans. The U. S. Interior Department has confirmed some of her findings.

The Public Health Service's study will be the first attempt to actually trace the path of the chemicals through the ecology of nature. It should be valuable for determining just where the dangers lie.

This is the kind of study that should have been made years ago. When it is completed, scientific data will be available to evaluate the effects of chemical pesticides.

Collegians Face Music In Daytona

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—City officials figure if music soothes the savage beast" it may help calm an expected influx of 75,000 restless college students migrating south on their annual Easter vacation. The experiment seems to be working. Though police say arrests are averaging about 100 a day, mostly on minor charges, this represents only a small percentage of the estimated 50,000 students in the area.

Al Garguilo, director of the city recreation department, estimates another 25,000 students, migrating from their winter-scholar schools in the north, will swell the total to 75,000 by this weekend.

City fathers feel they may have the answer in music to this potentially explosive situation—which in past years has erupted into riots, near riots and mass arrests here and at Fort Lauderdale.

The music experiment was inaugurated Wednesday night when some 6,500 of the vacationing students attended a combination folk music-jazz concert at the city's band shell.

The students confined their reactions to standing ovations when a performance pleased them.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

It is a common misconception that ulcers occur only on the mucous membrane that lines the stomach or small intestine. Actually, ulcers can develop in many other parts of the body. They are found in the mouth, the esophagus, in the colon, on the skin, on the cornea of the eye and in the protective covering of virtually every part of the body.

An ulcer is a sore or break in the skin which forms a sort of "crater" or "trench" and exposes underlying tissue to inflammation and infection.

Ulcers of the legs, the feet and the toes deserve particular attention. Too often they are considered insignificant and are neglected for long periods of time, thus complicating treatment and prolonging the disability that results.

Arteriosclerosis, varicose veins, diabetes, thrombosis (clot) phlebitis and a variety of neurological disorders may be responsible for ulcers of the legs. Injuries, burns by fire or chemicals, and frostbite are also frequent causes.

Poor circulation of the blood, especially in the elderly, can cause a simple but neglected scratch or cut to develop into a troublesome ulcer.

The healing of leg ulcers depends on the control of infection and the increase of the blood supply to the affected part.

The application of salves to ulcers of the arms or legs may soothe the conscience, but will rarely alone effect a permanent cure or prevent a recurrence unless the basic cause of the ulcer is understood and remedied.

Bed rest to improve circulation is valuable for the healing of ulcers. Antibiotics are used to counteract the bacterial infections that delay healing. Special enzymes are used to help nature remove from the ulcers the debris which tend to impair the healing process.

Antiseptic solutions enthusiastically recommended by well meaning friends can sometimes be harmful. Powerful antiseptic agents indiscriminately chosen can destroy nature's delicate healing mechanisms.

Wet dressings may be beneficial, but must only be applied at the discretion of the doctor. Oversoaking ulcers can retard the progress of healing.

Many new drugs are now used successfully to dilate the blood vessels of the leg in order to increase the healthy healing circulation.

Surgery of the sympathetic nervous system, a special division of the nerves of the spine, is a carefully chosen course in special cases to increase the blood supply.

Three prime rules can prevent prolonged painful, incapacitating complications of leg ulcers.

First: Any break in the skin or an individual known to have poor circulation should be treated by a physician.

Second: Salves, ointments, and all medicines except those for simple emergency cleaning should be specifically chosen by the doctor.

Third: The underlying cause of impaired circulation must be determined and remedied.

On reading that banks this year will legally burn up a billion dollars worth of money, Aitch Kay comments they're still 'way behind Congress.

That 17-ton cheddar cheese in Wisconsin's exhibit at the New York World's Fair required 700,000 quarts of milk to make it. This was a full day's output of 16,000 cows. That's a lot of unsung heroines!

The Ad Hoc Committee

By John Chamberlain

Lyndon Johnson has all the luck. Just when the Republicans think they have him in a corner because of some of the more impractical anti-poverty ideas of his official family, such as Secretary of Labor Wirtz's proposal to take demonstrably non-university type boys and girls off the work rolls by sending them to college at government expense anyway, a group calling itself the Ad Hoc Committee on the Triple Revolution meets to recommend that everybody in the country be guaranteed an adequate annual income whether he works or not.

The effect of this sort of thing is to make even the wildest notions of the Wirtzes seem middle-of-the-road stuff.

The Ad Hoc Committee considers that in the coming age of automation, the "traditional link" between jobs and income must be broken. Dr. Gunnar Myrdal, the Swedish economist and sociologist, is one important backer of the Ad Hocers' program; Harvard professor H. Stuart Hughes, the grandson of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, is another. Big names, these, to be coming up at this date with a proposal for financing everybody that makes the Townsend Plan and Major Douglas's "social credit" plan of the Nineteen Thirties seem like piker stuff of the extreme Right.

The Ad Hocers didn't define "adequate," but it is known that the rock-bottom figure for "adequacy" which many of them insist upon is $3,000 per year per average family. Assuming that men with bigger families would get more, and single people less, the average government payment needed to take care of the 4,100,000 unemployed at $3,000 per year would come to something like $12 billion a year.

Since consumption can only be paid for out of production, this would mean that the 58,000,000 people who are currently on payrolls would have to dig into their own pockets for the $12 billion needed to give the unemployed access to the products of industry. This is the underlying reality which links jobs and income no matter what any theorist may say to the contrary. The government could temporarily hide the "link" between the unemployed consumer and the employed producer by an inflationary issue of money. But prices would inevitably rise unless . . .

Ah, there's the rub. To put the Ad Hoc program into effect, the government would have to reinstitute price control and wage control. In brief, we would have to do what Hitler did in the Nineteen Thirties and Washington did during the war. Tie everybody and everything in industry to a permanent OPA.

We would have to do even more. For who would be willing to work for sixty dollars a week if he could have the equivalent from the Ad Hocers' government for doing nothing? Even those making more would quit if the Ad Hoc unemployment payments were to be left untaxed.

No society could put up with this sort of thing, of course. The next step would be to compel people to accept work in order to justify their guaranteed annual income. This is the reality of life in Soviet Russia today. Compulsory work books for everybody. No work, no eat.

Well, do you like the prospect? If you don't, you had better form an Ad Hoc Committee on the Quadruple Revolution to combat the propaganda of the Ad Hoc Committee on the Triple Revolution. Otherwise you'll be in hock to the Ad Hocers — or Ad Hocers.

What the Ad Hoc Triple Thinkers can't get through their heads is that any government relief that is given the status of a "right" automatically becomes a primary charge on production that must be paid for ahead of such minor considerations as maintenance, reinvestment and expansion. Industry — which is you and me or anyone else who works for a living — can and should be willing to take care of hardship cases. But beyond that? Must the employed be compelled, by law to bail out the ocean? Come to think of it, why am I writing this column anyway? I could live marvelously well on $3,000 a year in Spain or Mexico. Assuming they would still let me have a passport.

Youngsters and machinery don't mix. That's why there's a double-safe starting system on the 8 h.p. John Deere 110 Lawn and Garden Tractor.

The engine can't be started without the removable key or if the tractor or the rotary mower is in gear. This eliminates dangerous, unexpected jump-starts and acts as a reserve safety should you forget to remove the key.

There are no exposed belts or other hazardous mechanisms in the operator's area to catch loose clothing or carelessly placed fingers. Wide footrests keep your feet off the mower housing, and provide an easy mounting step when you get on or off the tractor.

Use the John Deere Credit Plan and start enjoying weekend retirement from yard work right away. Get a safety-designed John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractor and you'll not only have your weekends free, but greater peace of mind where your children are concerned. Come in today for a demonstration ride.

Many Pickaway Countians have had a difficult time setting their schedules back to normal.

It was last Saturday that the "High Fever Follies" took its final bow after weeks of preparation. Many associated with the show have voiced their discontent with complacency.

We thought a lot about your kids

Youngsters and machinery don't mix. That's why there's a double-safe starting system on the 8 h.p. John Deere 110 Lawn and Garden Tractor.

The engine can't be started without the removable key or if the tractor or the rotary mower is in gear. This eliminates dangerous, unexpected jump-starts and acts as a reserve safety should you forget to remove the key.

There are no exposed belts or other hazardous mechanisms in the operator's area to catch loose clothing or carelessly placed fingers. Wide footrests keep your feet off the mower housing, and provide an easy mounting step when you get on or off the tractor.

Use the John Deere Credit Plan and start enjoying week-end retirement from yard work right away. Get a safety-designed John Deere Lawn and Garden Tractor and you'll not only have your weekends free, but greater peace of mind where your children are concerned. Come in today for a demonstration ride.

Audit Results Are Listed For 6 Townships in County

The State Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices has completed its audit for 12 of Pickaway County's 15 townships. Results are on file with the various township clerks.

Earl J. Gockenbach, state examiner, found most of the records in proper order. Discrepancies, where found, were noted and suggestions were listed for proper procedures to follow in the future.

Brief rundowns on audits for the townships of Circleville, Deercreek, Jackson, Madison, Monroe and Muhlenberg were published yesterday. Today's summary covers Perry, Pickaway, Salter Creek, Walnut, Washington and Wayne Townships.

PERRY

The audit covers the period from May 17, 1961 until Aug. 16, 1963. The clerk during this time was Sheldon W. Grimes who succeeded Robert W. Kirkpatrick July 1, 1961.

Trustees during 1961 were Carl E. Binns, Homer Long, and Scott Stevenson. Delbert Remy replaced Stevenson in 1962 and Harley Evans replaced Binns during 1962.

The salary of each trustee during 1961 was $1,200.

In 1962, Long and Remy received $1,200. Binns was credited with working 148 days and was paid $888 and Evans was paid $312 for 52 days.

The clerk's compensation in 1961 was $302.76 for Kirkpatrick and $685.13 for Grimes. In 1962 Grimes' compensation was $910.13.

The auditor commented that bills were properly handled and vouchered except in some instances where labor payrolls were not itemized.

Records prescribed by the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices were not kept in a detailed and accurate manner, according to the report. The minute record was incomplete and all official acts of the trustees were not recorded. A detail of the bills authorized to be paid at each meeting was not shown.

The receipts journal was not in use and the appropriation ledger was not fully posted. The examiner commented it was evident the present clerk, appointed after the close of the previous examination, continued in the same manner as the former clerk and did not receive proper instructions.

PICKAWAY

The audit covers the period from May 24, 1961 until Sept. 10, 1963. Lawrence J. McKenzie was the clerk during the period.

Trustees during 1961 were Edgar Harral, Albert Musselman and Hoyt Timmons. Howard P. Rhoads Jr. replaced Musselman in 1962.

The salary of each trustee was $1,343.04 in 1961 and $1,204.76 in 1962.

The bill file was kept in good order, vouchers were properly approved and contained itemized bills and proof of delivery of materials and supplies, according to the examiner.

He noted, however, that payroll vouchers did not show where the labor was performed. He also called to the clerk's attention the need for a complete and detailed appropriations ledger.

All other records prescribed by the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices were accurately and neatly kept.

SALT CREEK

The audit covers the period from June 12, 1961 until Sept. 30, 1963. The clerk during the period was Charles E. Parker.

Trustees in 1961 were Clyde Hedges, George O'Hara and Donald E. Strous. In 1962, Carl Anderson and Fred Delong replaced O'Hara and Hedges.

The per annum salary of each of the trustees was $960. The clerk's compensation was $969.83 in 1961 and $935.09 in 1962.

The bills were examined and found correctly and properly vouchered, except for a number of instances in which the clerk failed to record the appropriation, fund and purchase order number in spaces provided.

Purchase orders issued for materials, supplies and equipment were not numbered and were not properly entered in the appropriation ledger.

The examiner noted that all other records prescribed by the

Exam Slated For Ashville Rural Carrier

An examination for rural carrier for the post office at Ashville will be open for acceptance of applications until April 21, the Civil Service Commission announced today.

Applicants must take a written test for this position. They must have resided within the delivery of the office for one year immediately preceding the closing date of the examination.

In addition, applicants must have reached their 18th birthday on the closing date for acceptance of applications. There is no maximum age limit. However, persons who have passed the age of 70 may be considered only for temporary limited appointments of one year.

All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, creed, color or national origin.

Complete information about the examination requirements and instructions for filing applications may be obtained at the Ashville post office. Forms must be filed with the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., and must be received or postmarked not later than April 21.

Patrol Apprehends Juvenile Escapees

Patrolmen of local Post No. 65 of the State Highway Patrol yesterday apprehended two juveniles who escaped from a guard enroute to the Boys Industrial School, Lancaster.

The youths escaped from a juvenile officer who was transporting them from the Cincinnati area to BIS. According to patrolmen, the pair leaped from the officer's car near Williamsport at about 10:30 a. m.

Patrolmen were summoned to assist in looking for the youths. After about an hour's search on foot, the juveniles were taken into custody.

They were transported to the BIS yesterday with assistance from local patrolmen.

Virgin Mary Statue Stolen from Yard

CLEVELAND (AP)—A thief chose Holy Week to steal a 30-pound plaster statue of the Virgin Mary from the backyard shrine of John F. Masterson. Masterson said he and his wife bought the statue six months ago for $30 to honor a daughter in a convent.

Bureau of Inspection were neatly and accurately kept.

WALNUT

The audit covers the period from June 23, 1961 until Aug. 30, 1963. The clerk during the period was Faye Sowers.

The trustees in 1961 were Ernest Barr, Russell Spangler and J. Arthur Sark. In 1962 E. Donald Balthaser replaced Sark. The Trustees' salary per annum was $960. Spangler had 72 days work in 1961 and received $432.

The clerk's compensation was $1,218.85 in 1961 and $1,258.22 in 1962.

The bills were properly vouchered and found correct. Records prescribed by the bureau were kept neatly and accurately except purchase orders were not in use. As a result, the appropriation ledger was not kept in a complete manner, according to the examiner.

WASHINGTON

The audit covers the period from May 20, 1961 until August 24, 1963. The clerk during the period was Thomas L. Beavers.

The trustees in 1961 were Floy Brobst, James Pierce and Walter G. Richards. In 1962 Loring Leist replaced Floy Brobst.

Pierce and Richards each received $1,200 in 1961 while Brobst had 195 days work and received $1,170. In 1962 Richards and Leist received $1,200 while Pierce had 190 days and received $1,150.

The examiner noted the trustees drew a "salary" each month of $70 to $85 and the balance at the end of the year. He informed the clerk the Ohio Revised Code provides compensation at the rate of $6 per day and not a yearly "salary". Therefore, compensation should be drawn for the number of days worked.

The clerk's compensation during 1961 was $1,037.13 and $966.38 during 1962.

Bills were examined and found correct except some vouchers for labor did not contain itemized bills.

The examiner noted that complete records prescribed by the Bureau of Inspection were not in use. No entries were recorded in the receipts journal. The minute record was incomplete and details of annual appropriation resolutions and of verbal orders issued by the trustees were not recorded. The examiner also cited the need for maintenance of the appropriation ledger.

WAYNE

The audit covers the period from Mar. 31, 1961 to until June 26, 1963. The clerk during the period was William Hoffman.

The trustees during 1961 were Harry J. Cupp, Howard Cupp and H. L. Parmer. In 1962 Donald D. Davis and George D. Kline replaced Harry J. Cupp and Parmer.

The salary of the trustees was $1,200 per annum. The Clerk's compensation was $753.90 in 1961 and $770.62 in 1962.

The examination disclosed that a number of vouchers did not include itemized bills and the code and account numbers were not recorded.

The examiner noted the annual financial reports submitted to the auditor of the state did not include the correct amount of general and classified taxes received and the deductions made by the county auditor for prescribed purposes.

Other notations included comments and suggestions relative to record keeping. Mentioned were entries in the minutes book concerning contracts for extra road work and purchases and receipt journal and appropriation ledger.

The meeting was closed with the Lord's Prayer. The next meeting will be March 31.

An article appeared in the March edition of a GE publication on Brown and his unusual hobby. The story was accompanied by pictures of his favorite collection — older vintage Bibles and hymn books.

Although Brown has never had his auction purchases examined by an expert, he may have struck paydirt with some of his buys. For example, he bought an old German Bible at an auction for $15. The flyleaf shows the book was printed in 1764 — 200 years ago. One of the blank pages carries some long-hand writing in German, presumably that of the original owner who signed the date 1765. The old Bible is in fine condition, too. This, plus its age probably means the volume of the Holy Book is worth more than the $15 Brown paid for it.

BROWNIE, as he is known at the local GE plant, has about 30 old Bibles in his collection. This includes many old hymn books, 13 copies of the treasured McGuffey Reader and a copy of Charlotte Bronte's "Jane Eyre" that is 110 years old.

"I just like to browse through old books", explained Brown, who has been a GE employee for 13 years. "Almost as interesting as the books themselves are the old newspaper clippings I find in many of them."

While he's primarily interested in old books, Brown also keeps a sharp eye open for other items when he attends an auction. He bought a violin at one sale. It's now being restored to playing condition and could prove to be valuable.

Inside the instrument are stamped the numbers "1692" and the name "Maginni". If the number is the year the violin was made, that would make it more than 300 years old. The name, he said, is probably that of the man who

Beta Kappa Chapter Entertains
37th Gamma Province Convention

One hundred and ten members of the Sigma Phi Gamma International Sorority were present when Beta Kappa Chapter was hostess to the 37th Gamma Province Convention.

The two day conclave opened with Memorial Services conducted by members of Alpha Epsilon Chapter of Chillicothe. A highlight of the evening was a dinner at the American Legion Center. Decorations appropriate to the "Dog Patch Theme" were used.

Entertainment after dinner was provided by Dusty Rhoades, along with group singing.

An election of officers was held the following day. Installation ceremonies were conducted by Mrs. Christine Roberts of Long Beach, Calif., International Editor.

New Province officers installed were: Miss Ruth Miller, Columbus, president; Miss Martha Judy, Logan, organizer; Mrs. Sharon Moore, Newark, editor;

Miss Barbara Caskey, Circleville, secretary.

Mrs. Thomas Dewey was toastmistress for the Friendship Banquet held at the Center. Following the Invocation by Mrs. Roselyn D. Eccard, a Candlelight Service was conducted by Mrs. Roberts.

Mrs. Dewey introduced all International Officers, Past Province Officers and newly elected Province Officers. Miss Margaret Goode closed the program with the benediction.

The luncheon which the Isabella Thoburn Circle gave on Wednesday for all the women of the church was a very successful event. Not as many responded as were hoped for, but more than 50 attended. The tables were decorated with spring flowers, the food was delicious, and the program very inspirational.

Mrs. Dwight Davis was in charge and in her remarks told something of the history of the Society, and things they have been able to accomplish. She introduced Mrs. Elizabeth O. Bennett who gave the address of the afternoon. Her central thought was that just as we pass on a favorite recipe, we should be the means of spreading the gospel of "Good News."

Mrs. Golden Minser spent Sunday in Chillicothe with her son and daughter - in - law, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Minser and family. This was a special family gathering because one son, Tom Minser, would enter the military service soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Reichelderfer and little daughter, Tammy, of near Circleville, had as their guests on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. James Search Sr. of Kingston. The Searches are great grandparents of Tammy. Mrs. Search's name was omitted, by mistake, in reporting the birthday party held recently for Tammy.

You're Out of Order!

DEAR ABBY: My complaint concerns the husband of my next door neighbor. He is an able-bodied, intelligent, recently-retired man who seems content to spend his days snoozing on the sofa, reading, or watching TV. His wife is a good friend of mine. When I drop in to have a chat with her, we have a cozy threesome. Nice? Why can't a man understand that his wife needs a little privacy in her own home? Surely there must be something more challenging for a man to do than to sit and wait to be called to his meals three times a day! My husband is approaching retirement age, and if this is retirement—deliver me!

DEAR ABBY: I borrowed six eggs from a neighbor. Two of them were rotten. I returned four eggs to her and told her that two of the ones she gave me were no good. She said I borrowed six eggs, not four, and I still owe her two eggs. What do you think?

DEAR ABBY: I am so upset I could bawl! My daughter just received a book for her 12th birthday from my sister, who's a 33-year-old school teacher and should have known better. This book is titled, "What is Happening to Me?" It is a facts-of-life-type book for boys and girls between the ages of 12 to 15. I planned to tell my daughter what I felt she should know when I thought she was ready for it. Now I don't know whether I should let her read this book or not. Don't you think my

The luncheon which the Isabella Thoburn Circle gave on Wednesday for all the women of the church was a very successful event. Not as many responded as were hoped for, but more than 50 attended. The tables were decorated with spring flowers, the food was delicious, and the program very inspirational.

Mrs. Dwight Davis was in charge and in her remarks told something of the history of the Society, and things they have been able to accomplish. She introduced Mrs. Elizabeth O. Bennett who gave the address of the afternoon. Her central thought was that just as we pass on a favorite recipe, we should be the means of spreading the gospel of "Good News."

Mrs. Golden Minser spent Sunday in Chillicothe with her son and daughter - in - law, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Minser and family. This was a special family gathering because one son, Tom Minser, would enter the military service soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Reichelderfer and little daughter, Tammy, of near Circleville, had as their guests on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. James Search Sr. of Kingston. The Searches are great grandparents of Tammy. Mrs. Search's name was omitted, by mistake, in reporting the birthday party held recently for Tammy.

Afternoon visitors of the Reichelderfers were Miss Evelyn Reichelderfer of Stoutsville and Frank Gray of Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dearth of Chillicothe had a dinner on Sunday for his father, Mr. Elmer Dearth, who was celebrating his 91st birthday. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dearth of Kingston.

Two lovely solos were sung by Mrs. Wm. Russell accompanied by Mrs. Whitten were "Eve Hath Not Seen" and "That's Where Jesus Died". Easter hymns were sung by the group.

Mr. and Mrs. David Nogle of Dayton came Friday and visited until Monday with his mother, Mrs. Aseaneath Nogle and sister, Mary.

Dinner guests of Mrs. Nogle Tuesday evening were Mrs. Kitty Mead and Mrs. Charles Myers of Circleville.

Mrs. Ronald Kempton and two children and Mrs. Russell Kempton and son, Johnny, left Thursday to spend two weeks in Kingsport, Tenn., with their husbands who are employed there by the Meade Paper Company.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harlev Davis, Mrs. Evelyn Stephenson and son, Joey, were Mrs. Sylvester Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Nichols. Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Nichols are sisters of Mrs. Davis.

Three children were baptized at the morning service at the Methodist Church in Kingston by the Rev. James K. Boor. Their names were James Lewis Fish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fish and Scott and Tamara Carmean, children of Mrs. Don Carmean and the late Mr. Carmean.

The Rev. and Mrs. James K. Boor and children left Sunday noon for Pittsburgh, Pa., to visit his father, who is seriously ill in a hospital there.

West All-Star Cage Team To Depend on 'Bad News'

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Jim Barnes of Texas Western may be "Bad News" to some people but he was strictly good news to the West team in today's East-West College All-Star basketball game.

Barnes, who stands 6-foot-8 and weighs 250 pounds, was nicknamed "Bad News" by his former opponents, and its obvious from the way he's performed in practice this week that his moniker holds true.

No one pushes Barnes around on the court. His size and ruggedness allowed him to average 30 points and 20 rebounds a game this past season in leading the Miners.

Slats Gill, who coached the West, said his hardest job was deciding whether to start Barnes or Mel Counts, a 7-footer he coached at Oregon State. Gill decided the extra height might make a little difference in the early going and went Counts.

"But I still figure Barnes is my best big man," Gill said. "I'll alternate him at the pivot with Counts."

The combination of Counts and Barnes in the pivot is expected to make the East offense work overtime in trying to score baskets.

Gill said his other starters would be All-America Dave Stallworth, 6-7, Wichita; Bud Koper, 6-6, Oklahoma City; Doug Moon, 6-1, Utah, and Wayne Estes, 6-6, Utah State.

Jack Gardner of Utah, who coached the East, said he would start All-America Bill Bradley, 6-5, Princeton; Ron Bonham, 6-5, Cincinnati; Fred Hetzel, 6-8, Davidson; Jeff Mullins, 6-4, Duke, and Wally Jones, 6-2, Villanova.

Gardner said he will try to use the speed of his guards—Mullins and Jones—to help overcome the big West height advantage. The West has only three players under 6-6, while the East has only two over 6-5.

The offensive prowess of Stallworth and the defensive ability of Counts and Barnes installed the West as a slight favorite. The East won the first game last year, 77-70.

The contest, sponsored by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, is scheduled to begin at 3:30 p.m. (EST) and will be televised nationally.

Giants Dicker For Snider

Mets' Left-Hander Needed by Frisco

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Duke Snider apparently is the left-handed slugger the San Francisco Giants figure will bring the National League pennant back to Candlestick Park this season.

The 1962 NL champions who dropped to third place in 1963 Friday were reported to have started negotiations with the New York Mets in an effort to get Snider.

The Duke, one of the few active major leaguers with more than 400 homers to his credit and now in the twilight of his baseball career, was sold to the Mets by the Los Angeles Dodgers a year ago.

The Giants need a left-handed pinch hitter who can hit the long ball to replace Ed Bailey traded to Milwaukee during the off-season. And the 37-year-old Snider still is dangerous at the plate as evidenced by his 14 homers, three triples and eight doubles for the Mets last season.

What sort of a deal the Giants offered the Mets for Snider was not known and there was no immediate reaction from the New York club.

The Duke, starting his 18th year in the majors, walloped a home run off Robin Roberts at Miami, Fla. Friday night in one of two exhibition games played on Good Friday.

The homer helped the Mets take a 2-0 lead, but they eventually lost 7-2 to Baltimore when the Orioles came up with five runs in the eighth inning. In the other game, the Houston Colts scored five runs in the first inning and beat Kansas City 6-4 at Daytona Beach.

Baltimore catcher Dick Brown led the Oriole attack with three hits—a homer, double and a two-run single in the decisive eighth to back up hitless relief pitching by Harvey Haddix and Rick Hall over the last four innings.

Houston's quick five runs came on Eddie Kasko's lead-off homer, two walks with the bases loaded by Bob Anderson and a single by pitcher Hal Woodeshick. The game was called after eight innings because of darkness.

Referee Vern Bybee agreed with The Associated Press in scoring it 7-3 for Olson, sixth-ranked light heavy by the World Boxing Association. Judge Jack Downey scored 6-3 and Judge Bob Mitchell had it 5-5, which surprised most of the 3,200 present and Olson, whose eyes misted when he learned he had won.

Southeastern Coach To Quit

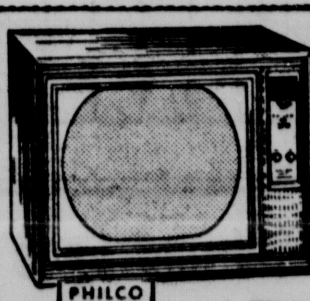

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)—Park Krater, whose Southeastern High School basketball team lost but a single game this season, has decided to quit coaching.

Prater says he will remain at the Ross County school as a teacher, but will quit as coach to devote more time to two farms he owns near Richmond.

Southeastern's only loss this year was to eventual Class A state champion Dresden Jefferson in the regional finals.

Prater, 32, said his decision has no effect on his commitment to coach the South team in Ohio's North-South all-star game this summer.

Judge Permanently Bans Woman from Her Church

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A judge has ruled that Betty Chapman—"the type of whom martyrs were made"—may never attend her church again.

Mrs. Chapman, 41, was accused of deliberately singing off key, loudly, and making faces at the pastor during services at nearby Mar Vista Baptist church.

Superior Court Judge McIntyre Faries ruled that "Mrs. Chapman did disturb the church in its worship and activities. Were she permitted to return, though she intends well, she would again—in the absence of change in church leadership and control—disturb it."

"The facts are sufficient to warrant injunctive relief," Earlier, Judge Faries had commented: "I have great admiration for Mrs. Chapman as an individual. She is the type of whom martyrs were made in the days of the early church."

Mrs. Chapman's problems began with a disagreement with her pastor, the Rev. Wayne Eurich, in 1960. The following year the church obtained a temporary injunction prohibiting her, her husband and daughter from attending services. They had been voted out of the congregation, but refused to quit attending.

Judge Faries earlier this month refused to issue a permanent injunction against the husband, John, 49, and daughter, Connie Ray, 22. He said there was insufficient evidence they were guilty of misconduct.

The disagreement arose when Eurich refused to perform a wedding ceremony Mrs. Chapman had arranged for a boy he said was under the age of consent.

Mrs. Chapman said she prefers not to join another church. She said the Mar Vista church is her "church home."

Babe Ruth hit 659 home runs as a New York Yankee. He also hit 49 while with the Boston Red Sox and six with the Boston Braves, for an all-time record total of 714.

Royals Slated In Philadelphia

Injuries Plague Cincy's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Cincinnati Royals hope they can run Philadelphia out of the National Basketball Association playoffs before the Royals run out of healthy ball players.

But the 76ers, beset by injuries through the regular NBA season and trailing 2-1 in their best-of-five Eastern Division semifinal set with Cincinnati, may have a manpower edge as well as the home court advantage in tonight's fourth game.

In the Western Division semifinals, the St. Louis Hawks hold a 2-1 margin over Los Angeles but must also battle the home floor hex tonight when they visit the Lakers. The home team has won each of the first six games in the two series.

Cincinnati needs a victory over the 76ers to advance to the Eastern finals against the Boston Celtics. The Royals also need a few day's rest to get their bandage brigade, which includes starters Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas and reserve Bud Olsen, back in working order.

Robertson, who bruised his right forearm, and Lucas, who suffered a back injury during Tuesday's defeat at Philadelphia both played the following night when the Royals won 101-89. Both are with the team today. But, whereas Robertson is expected to play, Lucas' status is doubtful. The rookie star was in for only eight minutes in Wednesday's victory.

Olsen, victim of a sprained ankle, did not make the trip.

St. Louis had a chance to finish off Los Angeles Wednesday but a blocked Hawks' shot and Eigin Baylor's last-second basket gave the Lakers a 107-105 decision and kept their hopes alive.

If both series go the full five games, the decisive contests will be played at Cincinnati Sunday and at St. Louis Monday.

OU Wrestler Leads Collegians

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP)—Harry Houska of Ohio University led college wrestlers from throughout the nation into today's finals of the NCAA championships.

Houska had three straight pins Friday to set the pace among today's 20 finalists. He flattened Wisconsin's Ronald Paar in 1:24 in Friday's windup.

Earlier the 191-pounder had pins in 4:50 and 1:02.

Houska's opponent today was Jack Brisco of Oklahoma State, which with six finalists in the running had all but wrapped up its 24th team crown.

Oklahoma State had piled up 75 points compared to only 33 for second-place Oklahoma. Ohio U. with 15 points was in seventh place.

Of 10 football games to be played by Syracuse next fall, four will be at home. They are Kansas, UCLA, Pitt and VPI.

Campbell Sets Pace In Azalea

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Joe Campbell, former Purdue University golf and basketball star turned golfing executive, hasn't won a tournament in over two years.

But he feels he's on the way to better things. He carried a one stroke lead into today's second round of the $20,000 Azalea Open tournament after shooting a five-under-par 67 Friday.

"I made those six- and seven-foot putts you have to make when you are playing well," was the way he summed up his 23-34 tour of the 6,744-yard Cape Fear Country Club course. It gave him a one-stroke edge over Bob Gajda, 47-year-old Birmingham Hills, Mich., pro who is playing his way home to his club job after making the four-tournament Caribbean tour this winter.

Campbell, a chunky, cigar-smoking 28-year-old blond, is vice president of a company making a new-style grip for golf clubs. Ever the executive, he pointed out to newsmen that the grip has been a major factor in his improved play.

Joe has had his ups and downs since his selection five years ago as pro golf Rookie of the Year. In 1962 he won more than $21,000 on the tour. Last year, stopped by an appendectomy at Greensboro, N.C., he won less than half that amount.

The last world heavyweight championship fight to go the full 15 rounds was in 1954 when Rocky Marciano outpointed Ezzard Charles in Yankee Stadium.

West All-Star Cage Team To Depend on 'Bad News'

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Jim Barnes of Texas Western may be "Bad News" to some people but he was strictly good news to the West team in today's East-West College All-Star basketball game.

Barnes, who stands 6-foot-8 and weighs 250 pounds, was nicknamed "Bad News" by his former opponents, and its obvious from the way he's performed in practice this week that his moniker holds true.

No one pushes Barnes around on the court. His size and ruggedness allowed him to average 30 points and 20 rebounds a game this past season in leading the Miners.

Slats Gill, who coached the West, said his hardest job was deciding whether to start Barnes or Mel Counts, a 7-footer he coached at Oregon State. Gill decided the extra height might make a little difference in the early going and went Counts.

"But I still figure Barnes is my best big man," Gill said. "I'll alternate him at the pivot with Counts."

The combination of Counts and Barnes in the pivot is expected to make the East offense work overtime in trying to score baskets.

Gill said his other starters would be All-America Dave Stallworth, 6-7, Wichita; Bud Koper, 6-6, Oklahoma City; Doug Moon, 6-1, Utah, and Wayne Estes, 6-6, Utah State. Jack Gardner of Utah, who coached the East, said he would start All-America Bill Bardley, 6-5, Princeton; Ron Bonham, 6-5, Cincinnati; Fred Hetzel, 6-8, Davidson; Jeff Mullins, 6-4, Duke, and Wally Jones, 6-2, Villanova.

Gardner said he will try to use the speed of his guards—Mullins and Jones—to help overcome the big West height advantage. The West has only three players under 6-6, while the East has only two over 6-5.

The offensive prowess of Stallworth and the defensive ability of Counts and Barnes installed the West as a slight favorite. The East won the first game last year, 77-70.

The contest, sponsored by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, is scheduled to begin at 3:30 p.m. (EST) and will be televised nationally.

Giants Dicker For Snider

Mets' Left-Hander Needed by Frisco

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Duke Snider apparently is the left-handed slugger the San Francisco Giants figure will bring the National League pennant back to Candlestick Park this season.

The 1962 NL champions who dropped to third place in 1963 Friday were reported to have started negotiations with the New York Mets in an effort to get Snider.

The Duke, one of the few active major leaguers with more than 400 homers to his credit and now in the twilight of his baseball career, was sold to the Mets by the Los Angeles Dodgers a year ago.

The Giants need a left-handed pinch hitter who can hit the long ball to replace Ed Bailey traded to Milwaukee during the off-season. And the 37-year-old Snider still is dangerous at the plate as evidenced by his 14 homers, three triples and eight doubles for the Mets last season.

What sort of a deal the Giants offered the Mets for Snider was not known and there was no immediate reaction from the New York club.

The Duke, starting his 18th year in the majors, walloped a home run off Robin Roberts at Miami, Fla. Friday night in one of two exhibition games played on Good Friday.

The homer helped the Mets take a 2-0 lead, but they eventually lost 7-2 to Baltimore when the Orioles came up with five runs in the eighth inning. In the other game, the Houston Colts scored five runs in the first inning and beat Kansas City 6-4 at Daytona Beach.

Baltimore catcher Dick Brown led the Orioles attack with three hits—a homer, double and a two-run single in the decisive eighth to back up hitless relief pitching by Harvey Haddix and Rick Hall over the last four innings.

Houston's quick five runs came on Eddie Kasko's lead-off homer, two walks with the bases loaded by Bob Anderson and a single by pitcher Hal Woodeshick. The game was called after eight innings because of darkness.

Redleg Players Free of Injury

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Manager Fred Hutchinson is more than pleased with at least one aspect of the Cincinnati Reds' spring training: No serious injuries so far.

Unlike last year, the club has been the "picture of health," Hutchinson said.

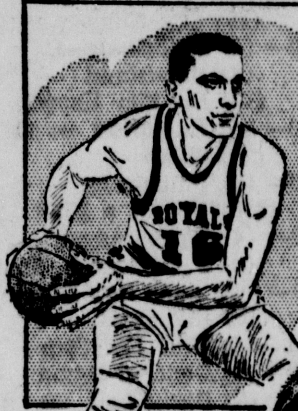

Hutchinson lost four key players at various times last year. He says he still is undecided on who'll play third base, but added he likes what he's seen of Deron Johnson. Johnson, with San Diego last year, has hit two exhibition homers.

Idle Friday, the Reds were to play the Milwaukee Braves this afternoon.

Judge Permanently Bans Woman from Her Church

Mrs. Chapman, 41, was accused of deliberately singing off key, loudly, and making faces at the pastor during services at nearby Mar Vista Baptist church.

Shrider Named Miami Director

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Miami University's new athletic director is Richard G. Shrider, who also will keep his job as head basketball coach of the Redskins.

Shrider, an All Mid-American Conference basketball player at Ohio University for two seasons, succeeds the late John L. Bricks, athletic director since 1951. Bricks died last week.

Shrider, 41, has been cage coach since 1957 and in his first season led the Redskins through a 12-game conference schedule unbeaten, the only time this has been done in the Mid-American. His 1958 team was co-champion.

Indians Cutting Rookie Roster

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The annual spring count-down is under way for rookies hoping to see their names on the Cleveland Indians' opening day roster.

This week's cut pared the roster to 33, and no more cuts are expected until next weekend when the Indians break camp and head for the West Coast for the exhibition season windup.

The squad must be down to 28 by opening day, April 14 at home against Minnesota.

The Indians got half a day off for Good Friday, but now have only one open date on the pre-season calendar.

Royals Slated In Philadelphia

Injuries Plague Cincy's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Cincinnati Royals hope they can run Philadelphia out of the National Basketball Association playoffs before the Royals run out of healthy ball players.

But the 76ers, beset by injuries through the regular NBA season and trailing 2-1 in their best-of-five Eastern Division semifinal set with Cincinnati, may have a manpower edge as well as the home court advantage in tonight's fourth game.

In the Western Division semifinals, the St. Louis Hawks hold a 2-1 margin over Los Angeles but must also battle the home floor hex tonight when they visit the Lakers. The home team has won each of the first six games in the two series.

Cincinnati needs a victory over the 76ers to advance to the Eastern finals against the Boston Celtics. The Royals also need a few day's rest to get their bandage brigade, which includes starters Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas and reserve Bud Olsen, back in working order.

Robertson, who bruised his right forearm, and Lucas, who suffered a back injury during Tuesday's defeat at Philadelphia both played the following night when the Royals won 101-89. Both are with the team today. But, whereas Robertson is expected to play, Lucas' status is doubtful. The rookie star was in for only eight minutes in Wednesday's victory.

Olsen, victim of a sprained ankle, did not make the trip. St. Louis has a chance to finish off Los Angeles Wednesday but a blocked Hawks' shot and Elgin Baylor's last-second basket gave the Lakers a 107-105 decision and kept their hopes alive.

If both series go the full five games, the decisive contests will be played at Cincinnati Sunday and at St. Louis Monday.

Alaska Rocked By Severe Earthquake

uyak on the southern tip of Kodiak Island was wiped out by a tidal wave. The message said the boat was picking up survivors.

A plane carrying six doctors, 18 nurses and other personnel took off in the darkness from Juneau, bound for Anchorage. Six Globemasters were standing by at McChord Air Force Base near Tacoma, Wash., ready to carry supplies to the stricken area.

A seaplane loaded with supplies took off at midnight from Whidbey for Kodiak. Another followed at 3 a.m. and two more were loading.

Eight doctors were flying from Fairbanks to Anchorage.

An Army spokesman at Ft. Wainwright, near Fairbanks, said a company of troops was being sent to aid Valdez, carrying rations for 500 people. One report, unconfirmed, said oil tanks at Valdez had exploded and fire was spreading there.

One million gallons of jet fuel was reported to have spilled at the International Airport and officials ordered Anchorage residents to stay away from the area.

The tremor jarred Fairbanks without serious damage and was felt over an immense area—east into Yukon Territory, southeast to Seattle.

Outside Alaska the quake did less serious damage, but tidal waves washed out two bridges in the state of Washington, another in coastal Oregon. At Depoe Bay, Ore., a wave washed over a family of six, drowning one youngster. Three others were reported missing.

An unidentified woman reportedly died of a heart attack when a wave washed into a trailer camp at Seaside, Ore. Several towns on the coast were evacuated as a precautionary measure.

Boats and docks were damaged at many places.

Water surged 40 miles up the Vancouver Island inlet called the Alberni Canal to flood the downtown section of the town of Port Alberni to a depth of five feet.

Hawaii was hit by a series of tidal waves.

The disaster service of the American Red Cross was rallying its forces to go to Alaska's aid.

Gov. Albert D. Rosellini of Washington alerted law enforcement agencies to be prepared to give any aid possible.

As communications were repaired in Anchorage the people there were warned to avoid driving, as dangerous cracks had opened in the roads.

Alaska Gov. William A. Egan was advised that Lt. Gen. Raymond Reeves, commander of the Alaska Command, was moving troops into Anchorage on a standby basis.

Young, Brown Make Hay In Senatorial Campaign

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Foes of early favorites are taking over the show in Ohio's U.S. senatorial campaigns.

While space hero John H. Glenn Jr. is hospitalized in Texas with a head injury, incumbent Sen. Stephen M. Young is making hay by calling on his challenger for the Democratic nomination to make his platform known.

On the Republican side, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown is developing a surging bid for conservative votes by terming Congressman-at-large Robert Taft Jr., "too liberal."

The May 5 primary election still is far enough away for further contrasts to emerge, but Young and Brown already are claiming shifts in their favor.

Young, an all-out backer of Kennedy-Johnson programs, asserts that a statewide sampling of voters gives him a 3-2 edge over Glenn.

But backers of the astronaut express confidence that Glenn will recover in time to make his political posture clear, although they are indefinite about how soon.

Hampered by Marine Corps restrictions on politicking, Glenn reminds supporters that he has experienced "holds" before.

Meanwhile, Glenn's wife, Annie, his parents and friends tour the state in his behalf without clarifying divergent reports on his party position.

Other Democratic candidates in the senatorial race, given but little chance for the nomination, are Albert R. Ball, Cleveland business consultant, and William Hotchkiss of Akron, unemployed electronics technician.

Taft continues campaigning between congressional sessions, apparently unperturbed by claims from the Brown camp that he has strayed from the path of his late father, often called "Mr. Republican."

"Speaking bluntly," said a Brown for Senator Committee letter, "young Taft's record is more compatible with that of his uncle Charles than that of his distinguished father."

"We refer to his support of the arms control and disarmament agency, his compromise with federally chartered credit unions and tax-sheltered cooperatives and his opposition to a bar on Reds on our state campuses."

Other stands listed by a Cleveland group backing Brown include favorable votes by Taft for the wheat deal with Russia, an appropriation for the Adam Clayton Powell junket and foreign aid.

Perhaps the most clear-cut difference appeared in a surprise criticism by Brown of the civil rights bill backed by Taft.

Brown cited a congressional record account of help to the House Judiciary Committee on the bill by the Republican Legislative Research Association.

"This association, officially headed by Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, helped in writing the bill and formulating GOP legislative tactics in its behalf," the Congressional Record account said.

In a recent Toledo speech, Brown termed the rights bill misnamed.

"I contend that this bill is not basically civil rights; is not going to work to the betterment of America's racial and religious minorities—in contrast to what we have been told," Brown said. "The bill does not secure rights, it destroys them."

Continuing, Brown expressed an opinion that Taft "who was one of the authors and one of the principal supporters of this statute, will reconsider his statement of position on this matter and assist in modifying this piece of legislation."

Taft indicated he has no intention of changing.

Gulf Coast Area Swept By Freakish Tidal Wave

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A freakish, 5-to-6-foot tidal wave rolled westward along the Louisiana and Texas coasts Friday night, tossing boats about and startling those who saw it.

No deaths or serious injuries were reported. Property damage did not appear to be heavy.

"It was one of the wildest scenes I've seen in a long time," said night watchman O. C. Buxton at the New Orleans Industrial Canal.

The wave, triggered by a minor earth movement, started around 10 p.m. The New Orleans Weather Bureau said it could have been connected with the Alaskan earthquake "in a coincidental sort of way."

The wave varied in size as it rolled up canals, rivers and bayous but was described by the Coast Guard as being five to six feet in height.

Some roads were covered by fast rising waters and small boats were smashed against docks.

The earth movement—something rare in this area—was detected by the seismograph at Spring Hill College in Mobile, Ala.

The Rev. Louis J. Eisele at the college said "a wide area in this section actually moved about 5-16ths of an inch."

The Weather Bureau and the Coast Guard said they had no reports of any high waves east of New Orleans.

The most dramatic effects occurred a few miles inland.

"It caused our docks and vessels moored out in the yards to go crazy-like, bobbing up and down, moving sideways, back and forth," said Leon Poche, 47, superintendent of Avondale Shipyards.

At Port Arthur, Tex., a watchman for a grain elevator reported the tide dropped between six and seven feet and a loaded grain ship "bobbed up and down like a cork six or eight times."

Near Baton Rouge, Albert E. Kent was looking at the placid Amite River when "all of a sudden, water came in waves four feet high."

Further down the Amite, A. S. Lainer of Denham Springs watched the waves tear apart boat houses and ramps at a fishing wharf where the water was four to five feet deep," he

Nixon Advises Sukarno Keep Off Malaysia

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Former U.S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon suggested here that Indonesia's President Sukarno "keep hands off Malaysia."

He further suggested that the United States make it plain "there can be no toleration of aggression by a larger country against a smaller one, especially when the United States is aiding that larger country."

Nixon, on a private business trip through Asia, flew in from Singapore for a two-day visit in Malaysia's capital. He was guest of honor Friday night at a private dinner given by Prime Minister Abdul Rahman at Rahman's residence.

At an airport news conference, Nixon called Malaysia's formation six months ago "one of the most important and exciting developments" in Southeast Asia.

He said "it is vital that this independent federation be allowed to continue in freedom and progress."

Sukarno has called British-backed Malaysia a "neocolonialist" threat to neutralist Indonesia, and has pledged to crush it.

Nixon, questioned about his views in this area, said Sukarno "would be well-advised to devote his very considerable talents to handling the problems of his own country and keep hands off Malaysia."

The United States has come under criticism here for what Malaysians feel has been a tendency on the part of Washington to support Sukarno's regime as the best protection against Indonesia going Communist. Critics here have claimed more U.S. attention is being paid to Indonesia because of its 100 million people against Malaysia's 10 million.

Nixon, noting this, said: "It is important that the United States position be made clear—we stand for freedom and independence regardless of the size of the country."

He said he has hopes a firm U.S. stand will act as a deterrent to possible escalation of guerrilla fighting in Malaysia's Borneo region, where Indonesian raiders have been making sporadic strikes across an 800-mile jungle border.

Johnson To Stay in U.S. While Veep Chair Empty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has informed Congress that President Johnson has decided "not to leave the United States while the office of vice president remains vacant."

This advice was in a letter from Asst. Secretary of State Frederick G. Dutton to a group of congressmen who had suggested a meeting between Johnson and President Charles de Gaulle of France.

A copy of the letter was released today by Rep. Robert F. Ellsworth, R-Kan., one of the congressmen who suggested the De Gaulle-Johnson meeting.

Dutton said Johnson had reached "a firm decision" against leaving the United States while the vice presidency is vacant, except in event of "some crises not now foreseen."

"This decision," Dutton wrote, "is based on a sound regard for our constitutional system, and the department would not feel justified in urging him to do otherwise."

Dutton said that in view of

Johnson's decision and of De Gaulle's refusal to come to the United States, a meeting between the two leaders was unlikely this year.

Ellsworth said the congressmen made up a small, informal group of Republicans who meet from time to time to discuss important national matters.

He said the group wrote Secretary of State Dean Rusk suggesting the De Gaulle-Johnson meeting.

Dutton said Johnson desired a meeting with De Gaulle and had invited him to come to the United States.

The Newark Evening News had published a story about the letter, and said Johnson does not intend to set foot outside this country until a president and vice president are sworn in next January.

This determination is one of the reasons why Johnson did not make some effort to meet with French President Charles de Gaulle when De Gaulle recently visited Mexico and the Caribbean, the News said in a dispatch from Washington.

In a speech Vatican experts called the strongest papal denunciation of communism in years, the Pope condemned Communist treatment of Roman Catholics as a modern-day crucifixion.

It was his most dramatic appearance in the solemn rituals of Holy Week, and 100,000 people crowded into Colosseum Square in a light rain to see him.

A moral but heavy crucifixion is still going on, the Pope declared, and Christ could ask His "modern and able persecutors" of today why they are persecuting Him.

"The body of Christ is crucified even today, morally but heavily, in many parts of the world," he said. "The church of silence is still the suffering church, the patient church and, in some places, the suffocated church."

His denunciation of Communist oppression led some observers to believe he is working to revive the church's attitude toward Marxism as it was in the reign of Pius XII.

Pope John XXIII spoke out against communism many times five years. He yielded no ground in doctrinal resistance to communism, but he stressed charity and gentleness more than outright condemnation.

Pope Paul spoke after he had walked from the huge amphitheater to a spot near the pagan temple of Venus on Palatine Hill. The 66-year-old pontiff took up the rough-hewn cross half-way through the procession, in which papal participation is unusual.

The procession symbolized the Way of the Cross and included 14 stops marking episodes of Christ's road to Calvary. The first four stops were inside the Colosseum, the other 10 outside on the way up Palatine Hill.

Headon Crash Being Probed

A headon collision yesterday evening that injured a Kingston area woman was still under investigation today by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department. The accident was on the Hayesville - Adelphi Road, east of Whisler.

Mrs. Melba Speakman, Route 1, Kingston, was taken to Berger Hospital where she was treated for lacerations of the forehead and a possible jaw injury. She was a passenger in a vehicle driven by her husband, Albert Speakman.

The second vehicle involved was driven by Kermit Haddox, 27 Barnes Ave. A passenger in his auto, Robert Griffey, 565 Watt St., was referred to a doctor for treatment of lacerations.

According to Deputy Sheriff George Linder, both vehicles were demolished. He said that no citations had been issued pending further investigation.

Film Program On Australia Is Scheduled

Charles Forbes Taylor, a world-renowned lecturer, author and humorist, will present his color motion picture, "Australia" at The Wagnalls Memorial in Lithopolis, on April 5, at 2:30 p. m.

Through the courtesy of the Board of Trustees of the Memorial, this film will be given free of charge.

Describing Australia as "the coming country of the Western World", Dr. Taylor will give a real-life study of the continent down under, from Aborigines and their boomerangs to the cultured cities of Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane.

Dr. Taylor presents Australia as a young nation, the home of some ten million people, a land of fertile farms, expanding industries, and big cities. Although half the population is found in the six capital cities, there is a close affinity between every Australian and the immense land itself. It long coast line has attracted many seafarers, and the pastoral empire of inland plains has created a distinct class of farmers, drovers, cowboys, and outdoor workers.

The people of Australia are distinctive in many ways. They speak English, but in a different way. Their tastes in food and clothing are different. They don't worry about politics, and believe that "Jack" is as good as his master. The differences Dr. Taylor found were mainly because they live in a land which, by its newness and nature, varies so widely from any other. There is a national addiction to a great variety of sports. Like Americans they read books, discuss their neighbors, and pay taxes. The people have worked to develop their country's resources, and have proved — not by their words, but by actions, their willingness to share whatever they have with their neighbors. And above all, they are proud of being Australians.

Charles Forbes Taylor, now an American citizen, was born in England; sang to an audience of 1000 at age 4; gave his first speech to 2000 at age 9; has since addressed an average of 500,000 people annually for 40 years. Dr. Taylor's speaking is made lively with stream of anecdotes, numerous illustrations and modern day parables. Known as the "jet-propelled speaker", he is characterized as having a merry optimism and the faculty of imparting it to others.

eign policy. He agreed that the Communists no longer present a solid bloc.

PANAMA—Fulbright said the United States should take a more magnanimous position toward revising the Panama Canal Treaty. Rusk said he didn't want to get into that subject because the two nations are now very close to an agreement.

CHINA—Fulbright said Red China should neither be recognized nor admitted to the United Nations. Rusk agreed. Fulbright also suggested it might be possible to draw Communist China into existing East-West agreements in such fields as disarmament, trade and educational exchange.

Although most of the news conference centered on questions about Fulbright's speech, there was also a focus on U.S.-Soviet relations.

Rusk stressed that no strings had been attached to the release of two American fliers shot down over East Germany March 10. He said he was still puzzled about how the plane had gotten so far off its course.

Rusk also said he had asked the Soviet Union for more information about Lee Harvey Oswald, who was accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy last Nov. 22. The Soviet government already has provided some information on Oswald for the Warren Commission investigating the assassination. Oswald lived in Russia for more than two years and married a Russian girl.

The secretary of state wasn't the only one in the capital expressing views on Fulbright's speech.

The Nationalist Chinese ambassador, Ting F. Tsiang, said he was shocked by the suggestion that Red China might be included in some East-West agreements.

Many of the points raised by Fulbright received the backing of Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, senior Republican on Fulbright's committee. As for Cuba, he said, "I've never known a country to be starved into democracy."

The Republican national chairman, William E. Miller said that if the speech was not a trial balloon for the administration, President Johnson should renounce it. Fulbright and Rusk had said it was not a trial balloon.

Johnson To Stay in U.S. While Veep Chair Empty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has informed Congress that President Johnson has decided "not to leave the United States while the office of vice president remains vacant."

This advice was in a letter from Asst. Secretary of State Frederick G. Dutton to a group of congressmen who had suggested a meeting between Johnson and President Charles de Gaulle of France.

A copy of the letter was released today by Rep. Robert F. Ellsworth, R-Kan., one of the congressmen who suggested the De Gaulle-Johnson meeting.

Dutton said Johnson had reached "a firm decision" against leaving the United States while the vice presidency is vacant, except in event of "some crises not now foreseen."

"This decision," Dutton wrote, "is based on a sound regard for our constitutional system, and the department would not feel justified in urging him to do otherwise."

Dutton said that in view of

Johnson's decision and of De Gaulle's refusal to come to the United States, a meeting between the two leaders was unlikely this year.

Ellsworth said the congressmen made up a small, informal group of Republicans who meet from time to time to discuss important national matters.

He said the group wrote Secretary of State Dean Rusk suggesting the De Gaulle-Johnson meeting.

Dutton said Johnson desired a meeting with De Gaulle and had invited him to come to the United States.

The Newark Evening News had published a story about the letter, and said Johnson does not intend to set foot outside this country until a president and vice president are sworn in next January.

This determination is one of the reasons why Johnson did not make some effort to meet with French President Charles de Gaulle when De Gaulle recently visited Mexico and the Caribbean, the News said in a dispatch from Washington.

sion at the ancient Colosseum Friday night. Vatican history has no record of a Pope ever before bearing a cross in a religious procession.

In a speech Vatican experts called the strongest papal denunciation of communism in years, the Pope condemned Communist treatment of Roman Catholics as a modern-day crucifixion.

It was his most dramatic appearance in the solemn rituals of Holy Week, and 100,000 people crowded into Colosseum Square in a light rain to see him.

Guest speaker will be Samuel Braden, vice president and dean for undergraduate development at IU.

The cross-country celebrations of Founder's Day coincide with the on-campus commemoration, May 6, of IU's 145th anniversary. The on-campus event will feature recognition of scholastically outstanding students.

President of the area alumni group and reservations chairman for the meeting is Joseph J. Woltman, 340 E. Broad St., Columbus.

Grass Fire Doused

Circleville Firemen doused a minor grass fire yesterday afternoon.

Firemen were called at 2:40 p. m. to the Gary George residence, 423 Northridge Road, where grass was burning out of control. No damage was reported.

Chain Saw Stolen

Edwin Towler, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, reported to Pickaway County Sheriff's office today that a 21-inch chain saw had been stolen from his garage. He said the gear was valued at $175.

A moral but heavy crucifixion is still going on, the Pope declared, and Christ could ask His "modern and able persecutors" of today why they are persecuting Him.

"The body of Christ is crucified even today, morally but heavily, in many parts of the world," he said. "The church of silence is still the suffering church, the patient church and, in some places, the suffocated church."

His denunciation of Communist oppression led some observers to believe he was working to revive the church's attitude toward Marxism as it was in the reign of Pius XII.

Pope John XXIII spoke out against communism many times five years. He yielded no ground in doctrinal resistance to communism, but he stressed charity and gentleness more than outright condemnation.

Pope Paul spoke after he had walked from the huge amphitheater to a spot near the pagan temple of Venus on Palatine Hill. The 66-year-old pontiff took up the rough-hewn cross half-way through the procession, in which papal participation is unusual.

The procession symbolized the Way of the Cross and included 14 stops marking episodes of Christ's road to Calvary. The first four stops were inside the Colosseum, the other 10 outside on the way up Palatine Hill.

Headon Crash Being Probed

A headon collision yesterday evening that injured a Kingston area woman was still under investigation today by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department. The accident was on the Hayesville - Adelphi Road, east of Whisler.

Mrs. Melba Speakman, Route 1, Kingston, was taken to Berger Hospital where she was treated for lacerations of the forehead and a possible jaw injury. She was a passenger in a vehicle driven by her husband, Albert Speakman.

The second vehicle involved was driven by Kermit Haddox, 27 Barnes Ave. A passenger in his auto, Robert Griffey, 565 Watt St., was referred to a doctor for treatment of lacerations.

According to Deputy Sheriff George Linder, both vehicles were demolished. He said that no citations had been issued pending further investigation.

Film Program On Australia Is Scheduled

Charles Forbes Taylor, a world-renowned lecturer, author and humorist, will present his color motion picture, "Australia" at The Wagnalls Memorial in Lithopolis, on April 5, at 2:30 p. m.
